Dear 2017 SPSA conference participants,

Greetings and welcome to the 2017 Annual Meetings of the Southern Political Science Association! This year is our 88th conference, a reflection of the fact that the SPSA is one of the oldest professional organizations within the political science discipline. As always, our meetings enable scholars and practitioners from all over the world to gather and exchange ideas. And, more than 1,200 conference participants are taking advantage of this great opportunity.

SPSA Vice-President and Program Chair Jeff Gill and his Program Committee have put together a wonderful conference, including 41 organized sections and 348 panels. These cover not only all subfields within the discipline but also topics in practical and applied politics, teaching political science, and professional development. Recent events and developments in American politics will receive strong coverage, with roundtables on the legacy of Justice Antonin Scalia, a look back on the Obama presidency, early survey findings from the 2016 election, and a post-mortem on election forecasting. Regardless of your specific interests as a political scientist, I truly believe there is something for everyone in our 2017 Annual Meetings!

Along with many presentations in the traditional panel and roundtable formats, we are continuing a unique feature of the SPSA Annual Meetings by including eight Conferences within the Conference. These are "mini-conferences" that provide several coordinated panels organized around a common theme. 2017 is the sixth year that we have included Conferences within the Conference; they have proven to be extremely popular among SPSA participants.

I would like to call your attention to several special events at the 2017 SPSA Annual Meetings. First, American Political Science Association President David Lake will deliver an address at 12:00 Noon on Thursday, January 12. Second, the SPSA Business Meeting and Awards Presentations will occur at 11:00 a.m. on Friday, January 13. And I will deliver my SPSA Presidential Address at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, January 14. There also will be a Welcome Reception at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, along with additional receptions after the Business Meeting on Friday Afternoon and the SPSA President's Address on Friday evening. I hope you will be able to attend all of these events!

While our main focus is on scholarship and professional matters within the meetings we certainly do not want to overlook our location in The Crescent City! The SPSA's return to New Orleans allows conference participants to sample the cultural, historical, musical, and culinary offerings from one of the world's most unique cities. The timing of our 2017 Annual Meetings, over the weekend of the Martin Luther King holiday, should provide even more opportunities to enjoy the setting.

In conclusion, thank you for participating in the 2017 Southern Political Science Association Annual Meetings! I know that you will have a great experience that is both productive and enjoyable. I look forward to seeing all of you around the conference.

William G. Jacoby
SPSA President

MITCHELL J. LANDRIEU, MAYOR
CITY OF NEW ORLEANS

Welcome!

As Mayor of New Orleans, it is my pleasure to welcome the Southern Political Association Conference. Thank you for your commitment to host your 88th annual conference here.

You will experience the warm hospitality and unique culture that New Orleans has to offer. I am certain that New Orleans will serve as the perfect destination for the reunion and provide the best opportunities for the group. While you are here, presenting political science research and networking amongst political science students and professionals, take some time to relax and explore the City. Dine in our incomparable restaurants; enjoy some of the great music we have to offer, tour historic neighborhoods like the French Quarter and Treme, and shop in our antique and specialty shops throughout New Orleans, including the bustling Magazine Street corridor. It is my hope that your stay will be memorable and that you leave with new knowledge and relationships.

I extend my best wishes to the Southern Political Science Association, as well as those traveling to partake in the festivities. Thank you for choosing New Orleans.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Mitch".

Mitchell J. Landrieu, Mayor
City of New Orleans

THINGS TO DO IN THE CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT

Information from the New Orleans Convention & Visitors Bureau

The Central Business District (CBD) is not a 9 to 5 neighborhood, it is home to New Orleans' historic civic and entertainment roots. Ride the streetcar directly in front of Gallier Hall, the original city hall, and Lafayette Square, home to a multitude of seasonal festivals and live music events. Visit the newly renovated Civic Theater, New Orleans' oldest live performance theater, for local and national entertainment acts. The CBD is also home to dozens of world renowned restaurants with celebrity chefs, all within walking distance to the French Quarter and Convention Center/Warehouse Arts District.

GETTING AROUND

Taxis: There are hundreds of taxis available on New Orleans' streets and at major hotels. Taxi rates are $3.50 plus $2 per mile (.25 per one-eighth mile) thereafter. There is also an additional charge of $1.00 per passenger after the first passenger.

St. Charles Avenue Streetcar: Ride through the Crescent City on a national historic landmark that only costs $1.25. Streetcars have been rumbling along St. Charles Avenue for more than 165 years. This route runs more than 13 miles downtown from Canal Street along St. Charles Avenue, past Greek Revival mansions and raised cottages, Tulane University and Audubon Park, and beyond the shops at the Riverbend, where it takes a right-hand turn onto Carrollton Avenue.

Riverfront Streetcar: For $1.25, you can ride the traditional green or newer red streetcars. This two-mile route includes stops at all the right places: the Convention Center at Julia Street, Riverwalk, the Audubon Aquarium of the Americas, the French Market and the Old U.S. Mint on Esplanade Avenue.

Canal/Carrollton Streetcar: The re-established streetcar line in New Orleans runs the length of Canal Street for only $1.25.

This is the original "Cemeteries" line, which runs from the Mississippi River to the cemeteries located at the mid-city end of Canal Street. Along the line there is a Carrollton Spur, which will take you to beautiful City Park, home of the New Orleans Museum of Art and the New Orleans Botanical Gardens.

Loyola Avenue Streetcar: The Loyola Avenue Streetcar is the newest streetcar line that links the Union Passenger train terminal, the Hyatt Regency New Orleans Hotel, the Mercedes-Benz Superdome, City Hall, the public library and downtown hospitals. For a $1.25, these links connect the Sports District to the Central Business District, French Quarter and Warehouse/Arts District.

Pedicabs: Pedicabs allow New Orleans visitors and residents a unique mode of transportation through the city while also being able to appreciate the historic landmarks, city activity and wonderful views. These more modern forms of rickshaws carry passengers throughout the downtown area of New Orleans using human energy, allowing for a cleaner, greener form of transport.

SPSA PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

William G. Jacoby

Friday, January 13 | 6:30 P.M. to 7:30 P.M.

Empire C

William G. Jacoby is Professor of Political Science at Michigan State University and Faculty Research Associate at the University of Michigan's Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR). Professor Jacoby received his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill in 1983. Before coming to MSU in 2003, he held faculty positions at the University of Missouri-Columbia, the Ohio State University, and the University of South Carolina.

Professor Jacoby's main areas of professional interest are mass political behavior, quantitative methodology, and state politics. In the mass behavior subfield, his current work focuses on the effects of values on public opinion and vote choice. Previous contributions emphasized ideological thinking within the American public, and citizen reactions to government spending as a political issue. In the methodology field, Jacoby's interests focus on measurement theory, scaling methods, and statistical graphics. In state politics, he is part of an ongoing project (with co-authors Sandra K. Schneider and Daniel C. Lewis) studying the structure, determinants, and consequences of state policy priorities. Professor Jacoby is co-author of The American Voter Revisited (with Michael S. Lewis-Beck, Helmut Norpoth, and Herbert F. Weisberg) and author of Data Theory and Dimensional Analysis, Statistical Graphics for Univariate and Bivariate Data, and Statistical Graphics for Multivariate Data. His articles have appeared in a variety of professional journals including the American Journal of Political Science, the American Political Science Review, the Journal of Politics, Political Analysis, the British Journal of Political Science, Political Research Quarterly, and State Politics and Policy Quarterly.

Professor Jacoby is Editor of the American Journal of Political Science and he has been invited to serve an unprecedented second term in this position. He also is a former Editor of the Journal of Politics (2001-2003). Under Jacoby's editorship, the AJPS has become the top-rated journal within the political science discipline, based upon the 2015 Thompson-Reuters Two-Year Impact Factor and Google Scholar h-5 Index. He is a leader in the movement to promote data access and research transparency in journal publications, creating and implementing one of the most rigorous replication and verification policies in the entire scientific community for articles published in the AJPS. Professor Jacoby serves or has served on the Editorial Boards of a number of the discipline's leading professional journals.

Professor Jacoby has been affiliated with several methodological training programs, most notably as Director of the ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research from 2007 through 2013. During his term in this position, the ICPSR Summer Program expanded its course offerings and established new training sites throughout the U.S. and in Canada. Enrollments in the Program surged to more than 1000 participants. Jacoby is a long-time instructor in the ICPSR Summer Program, teaching a workshop on "Measurement, Scaling, and Dimensional Analysis" along with several other classes. He also has taught courses in the Australian Consortium for Social and Political Research Incorporated Summer Program at Australian National University, the Oxford Spring School in Quantitative Methods at Nuffield College, Oxford University, and the Global School of Empirical Research Methods at the University of St. Gallen in Switzerland.

MINI- CONFERENCES

In 2017 the SPSA continues the innovation introduced five years ago of hosting extended discussions organized around a single theme. These mini-conferences offer the opportunity for a small community of scholars to set aside time together within the larger meeting. A room is set aside for the time requested, between 3 and 8 regular sessions which occur in succession. Whether these sessions are scheduled on a single day or straddling two days depends on the preferences of the organizer. Some are stand-alone sessions, while others are integrated with their related research section.

If you are interested in organizing a mini-conference to be held in conjunction with the 2018 SPSA meeting, contact Sandra Schneider (the 2018 Program Chair).

2016 NATIONAL BOOK AWARD
FINALIST IN NONFICTION

THE NEW PRESS PROUDLY CONGRATULATES
ARLIE HOCHSCHILD ON STRANGERS IN THEIR OWN LAND

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER

"This is a smart, respectful and compelling book."
-THE NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW

"Satisfying . . . [Hochschild's] analysis is overdue at a time when questions of policy and legislation and even fact have all but vanished from the public discourse."
-THE NEW YORK REVIEW OF BOOKS

"These attentive, detailed portraits . . . reveal a gulf between Hochschild's Strangers in Their Own Land and a new elite."
-THE NEW REPUBLIC

"The anger and hurt of the author's interviewees is intelligible to all. In today's political climate, this may be invaluable."
-THE ECONOMIST

"An important contribution to the understanding of our times."
-THE NATION
